COPPER RESOURCES CORPORATION

OFFICES TO MOVE FROM SYDNEY TO JOHANNESBURG AND RESULTING CEO RESIGNATION

LONDON, United Kingdom – 28th MARCH 2007.

In line with its primary focus on projects in the Democratic Republic of Congo, the board of directors of Copper Resources Corporation (AIM: CRC.L) (“CRC”, the “Company”) has decided to move its management offices from Sydney to Johannesburg. As a result, the Company’s Sydney-based Chief Executive officer, Chris Jordinson, has resigned, effective March 26th 2007. His functions will be assumed by CRC’s Executive Vice Chairman, Mitch Alland, in the interim, until a suitable replacement is found in Johannesburg, where an executive search has commenced.
